

Finolex Academy of Management & Technology, Ratnagiri

Electrical Engineering Department

RAKSHABANDHAN

EESA organized a social event on 5th August to celebrate 'Rakshabandhan' with the Ratnagiri Police Department. According to Indian culture, on occasion of 'Rakshabandhan', a sister ties 'rakhi' to her brother which symbolizes 'a bond of protection'. The prime motive of the event was to appreciate the work of our police department in safeguarding the society with law and order.

The event was organized in 3 phases:

- 1. Rakshabandhan at City Jail was held at City Jail by offering 'Rakhis' to the police officers and the jail inmates at Ratnagiri Police City Jail. EESA's aimed to bring some positivity into the criminals on behalf of the society. The jail had some historical references which were explained by Manoj Padalkar sir of the police department. The freedom fighter Swatantrya Veer Sawarkar was held captive in this jail for over 2 years. The students visited the cell he was kept in and also some British era items in the jail. Sweets were distributed to the inmates and the police members present there.

EESA members and Faculty at the Central jail Ratnagiri entrance

Miss. Ashvini Kamble tying rakhi to jail supritendent

- 2. Rakshabandhan at Police Headquarters was the main session of the celebration. The Superintendent of Police and (SP) Shri. Pranay Ashok (Ratnagiri division) were the chief guests of the function. Police officer Shri. R. R. Deshmukh along with Prof. M. S. Modak, Prof. P. J. Kadam and Prof. S. S. Wamane were also present. Male and female unit of Police, underprivileged children from nearby locality and children of the headquarter school attended the celebration. It began with 'Deep Prajwalan' and felicitation of the chief guests. SP Shri. Pranay Ashok appreciated the efforts in his addressed to the union. EESA co-coordinators Ashvini Kamble and Prathamesh Shitut anchored the program. The girls from the Headquarter school and EESA tied rakhis to the entire police unit along with the chief guests. The female police unit also tied rakhis to the coordinators which was greatly appreciated by the gathering. The under-privileged children from surrounding locality were given free stationary items by EESA. The police department appreciated EESA for arranging such event. The police department expressed gratitude and assured to provide assistance for such events in the future.

Chief guest Superintendent of Police Shri. Pranay Ashok (Ratnagiri division) addressing the gathering

EESA members tying rakhi to Lady police trainees

Prof. M. S. Modak donating study material to school children

3. Rakshabandhan at City Police Station

EESA Ladies Representative Miss. Ankita Hawal tying rakhi to station incharge

EESA head Mr. Pratik Gawade tying rakhi to a lady police officer

Finally, the EESA team headed to the City Police Station for the third session. As a memory of the program, the dignitaries put up their signature on a white T-shirt. Miss. Ashvini Kamble played crucial role in organizing the event. The event management team and decoration team also worked wholeheartedly to make the programme successful. The program successfully met its desired social commitment and also received amazing response from the police department and the localites.

Prof. M. S. Modak , Prof. P. J. Kadam and Mr. Manoj Padalkar along with students at Ratnagiri Central Jail